Many primary sources are included in these foldables. Originals can be found on the Library of Congress web site. These images are contained in full with complete source information on separate Word files in the images folder. Use of these images for additional instruction is encouraged.

It is strongly recommended that a training session be held for teachers so that they become familiar with the folding techniques used in these templates. It is also strongly recommended that teachers who use the templates obtain a copy of one of Dinah Zike's books. Clear directions for the folding techniques are in each of her books.
